

I am a flight attendant, and I am opposed to allowing passengers to use cell phones while in flight. First, it represents a safety concern, and passenger safety is our number one priority. Two, if passengers can use cell phones, so can terrorists. Three, we already have enough to "police" to do on flights (intoxicated passengers, belligerent passengers, sold-out flights, cramped space, etc.). We certainly do not need to add cell phones to our list of duties.
